

NOTED CATHOLICS GATHER IN CHICAGO

Conference Brings Together
Leading Figures of Church in America.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Nearly 2,000 delegates were present at 9 a. m., when the Catholic conference was opened at the Armory by the Most Rev. James Quigley, archbishop of Chicago.

Numbered among the delegates were seven American archbishops, fifty-one of the eighty-nine American bishops, eight cardinals, eight foreign bishops, and nearly 200 priests, constituting the largest gathering of Catholic clergy and hierarchy this country has ever witnessed. Most prominent Catholic laymen in this country and Canada were among the delegates.

In his opening address, Archbishop Quigley reviewed the work of the American church in the missionary field, and spoke confidently of the great future for this work in this country.

Archbishop's Address.

Archbishop Quigley said in part: "The Church of America by pontifical act is at the beginning of a new era in its history. It is practically only 100 years old, yet it has reached its majority. The old order of things is changed and a new order established.

"This congress is called at this time to give us occasion to study our duties and responsibilities, as a hierarchical unity, and national church in a closer intimacy of government association and affection with himself and the church universal to which we have been addressed by the Sovereign Pontiff.

"Every department of missionary activity has been carefully organized. Every field of missionary effort has been placed in charge of the responsible agencies. The foreign missionary agencies of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith were never better organized than they are today.

Home Missions.

"The Catholic Church in this continent has appeared on the scene to look after our long neglected home missions. The bureau of Indian and negro missions, by the zeal of the metropolitans of the country, have been reorganized, and are in a position to carry on the work of propagating and preservation of faith among our Indian and negro populations.

"It will be the object of the Missionary Congress in future to organize every parish and diocese, and to bring home to every individual Catholic the sacred cause of the missions, home and foreign. The great question is not one of organization, but of support."

Archbishop Quigley was followed by Archbishop Falconio, the papal delegate and personal representative of Pope Pius at the congress. He spoke briefly on the bishops' works of the congress, and delivered a message from the Vatican to the delegates and the American church in general. William Hines welcomed the delegates on behalf of the Catholic clergy and laity of Chicago.

Then followed a program of papers, the subject for the day's discussion being "Foreign Missions." He spoke of a reception will be held for Archbishop Falconio and the visiting prelates and delegates at the Annex Hotel.

SMYTH IS AHEAD IN CHESS PLAY

He Has Score of +27, With Lavender a Close Second.

Another round in the chess tourney in progress at the Washington Chess and Whist Club was completed Saturday evening.

The play was interesting, and several good scores were registered. Smyth and Lavender made high scores, the former with a +27 to his credit, and the latter a close second with +25. The complete scores follow:

Turner, -17; Parker, -17; Davis, -17; Smyth, +25; Smith, +19; Lavender, +27; Tallaferra, +17; Cannon, -12; Tarbox, +3; Hutchinson, +22; Burbank, +15; Farwell, +4; Cook, +1; Lewis, -2; Saxton, -4; Snell, -15; Landry, +4; Denbitz, -12; G. Smith, +1; Cochran, -12; Summy, -25; Young, -11; Nye, +11; Merrill, +21; Nevius, -10; Leith, -10; Berman, +7.

The annual chess championship tournament of the club starts the first Tuesday in December. Judging from present indications the entry list will be large.

Jose R. Capablanca, formerly chess champion of Cuba, and of wide reputation, will be in Washington shortly, and is scheduled to play an exhibition game before the members of the club.

Secretary Lavender recently received a note from the Baltimore Chess Association to the effect that fifteen members of that club will be in this city on November 21 to play in the interclub match scheduled for that date.

The departmental chess tournament starts this evening in the rooms of the club. Team A of the Agricultural Department meets Navy Department, and Team B plays Treasury.

NAME OF JOHN MAGUIRE A SYNONYM FOR LUCK

Congressman - Elect From Nebraska District Thought
Hopelessly Republican.

ECLIPSES RECORD OF HIS CHIEFTAIN

Leaders Sidestep Nomination and Jovially "Hang the Job" on Young Henchman.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 15.—Throughout the First Congressional district, Nebraskaans regard the name of John A. Maguire as a perfect synonym for luck.

For he is Congressman-elect in a district hopelessly Republican. Furthermore, Maguire, a Democrat, has eclipsed the record of William J. Bryan, the only Democrat who ever carried the First. Bryan annihilated weak opponents, while Maguire worsted E. Pollard, of Nebraska, a guardsman close to the throne of Speaker Cannon.

Leaders, tried and true, sidestepped the Democratic nomination with laughable alacrity. G. W. Berge did not want it. No thank-you-so-much," sweetly responded T. J. Doyle. Other leading bourgeois, chieftains in the Bryan wigwag, united in jovially "hanging the job onto Maguire." His name was inserted on the primary ballot and he was "stuck."

Now Kick Themselves. And all of these wisecracks are kicking themselves. For Maguire was elected by a decisive majority. Before election not even the most chimerical deposer dared to intimate that the First district was in doubt.

Four states have contributed to the making of John A. Maguire. They are Lincoln, Nebraska, Iowa, and Illinois. He was born near Galena, Ill., but while he was yet a baby his parents "took up a homestead" near Mitchell, S. D., and it was there that his boyhood was passed, his life filled with the many trials that fall to the lot of the pioneer lad.

At an early age John Maguire determined to obtain an education. He went to the public schools at Mitchell, then to a private school for a few terms and later became superintendent of the city schools of Salem, S. D. His experience on the farm had shown him the need for scientific knowledge in connection with agriculture, and as soon as he found it possible he enrolled as a student in the South Dakota Agricultural School, where he did the milking in the United States experiment station.

Hero of Gridiron. Though he earned his own way, he found time to become a player on the agricultural college football team. During his last year at the South Dakota school he was department assistant and had charge of all field observations on crops. He completed his course at the college and was graduated with some distinction there as winner in a hard fought oratorical contest. All this time the young farmer, teacher, and orator had kept before himself his determination to secure a liberal arts education.

It 1888 he was graduated from the academic course in the University of Nebraska, and in 1890 was graduated from the law school of that institution and admitted to the bar. While in the university he specialized in American history and political science, and won special notice as a keen parliamentarian and debater. He was president of the State Oratorical Association of South Dakota, and vice president of the Inter-State Oratorical Association, which first met in Lincoln in 1898. Young Maguire had full charge of the arrangements and made the meeting a decided success. He held a captaincy in the college militia and was a reporter on a university paper for a time. In 1894 Maguire was elected president of the University Alumni Association, which he completely reorganized along new lines, putting it for the first time on a sound and successful basis.

Only Public Office. During 1900 and 1901 Mr. Maguire was deputy treasurer of Lancaster county, the only public office he has held. Since then he has been actively engaged in the practice of law in Lincoln. The young attorney has been much in demand as a public speaker, and his name has frequently appeared on banquet toast lists. He has served as chairman of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary Lavender recently received a note from the Baltimore Chess Association to the effect that fifteen members of that club will be in this city on November 21 to play in the interclub match scheduled for that date.

The departmental chess tournament starts this evening in the rooms of the club. Team A of the Agricultural Department meets Navy Department, and Team B plays Treasury.

man of the Democratic county committee of Lancaster county and as secretary of the State committee. In 1904 he was a delegate from the First district to the Democratic national convention at St. Louis.

Mr. Maguire has long been a close friend of William J. Bryan and was on the Bryan reception committee both in New York and in Lincoln at the time of Bryan's homecoming from his journey around the world. Mr. Bryan made seventeen speeches for Maguire in his district during the recent campaign. When the two met for the first time after the election results were known there were tears in Maguire's eyes when he said earnestly:

"I would have been highly pleased to have been defeated could you only have won."

Glad Hand From Bryan.

Mr. Bryan clasped the young Congressman's hand warmly as he replied: "I know you mean just what you say, and I am gratified to know that the honor I once held in this district has fallen to one so deserving, and I know you will serve the people faithfully and well."

Mr. Maguire carried his district by 1,000 majority. Mr. Bryan is the only Democrat who ever before carried the First district and his majority was small.

The new Congressman is only thirty-five years of age. He is unmarried. He is a man of large sympathies and is rigidly honest in all his dealings. He is temperate in his habits and fond of athletics. His rugged health and untiring energy were valuable assets in the recent campaign.

"Cannonism" the Issue.

"Cannonism" was the most important issue in the campaign. Congressman E. M. Pollard, who received a place on the Committee on Agriculture from Speaker Cannon, refused to make a statement as to his intentions. Maguire declared he would cast a vote for any Republican who opposed Cannon in case his party was in the minority.

W. J. Bryan carried the First district twice by the most precarious pluralities. The first time Omaha was in the district. In the second campaign Bryan had a plurality of 180 votes.

VIRGINIA SCHOOLS SECURE MORE MONEY

Every County Gets Increase as Result of Act of the Last Legislature.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 15.—As a result of an act of the last Legislature, providing for the appropriation of certain funds to the public schools of the State, announcement has been made by Superintendent J. D. Eggleston, of the department of public instruction, of the amount appropriated to the various counties and cities of the Commonwealth, and half payable at once and a like amount on January 1, 1909.

The total amount of State aid to city and county schools in Virginia is $1,025,322.50, every dollar representing an increase over former years. From this fund the city of Richmond, credited with a school population of 23,565, gets $21,158.80.

The total school population of the State is 589,618.

ACCIDENT A TEST FOR BIG BALLOON

Baldwin Dirigible in No Way Injured by Falling of Tent.

The great Baldwin dirigible balloon, which narrowly escaped destruction as a result of Saturday's early snowstorm, is now safely stored in the permanent and substantial balloon house at Fort Myer, and Lieutenants Lahm and Foulis are busy making repairs.

A small rent in the gas bag, the result of the falling of the snow-weighted balloon on the inflated bag, was sewn up and vulcanized this morning, and the general repairs which were under way at the time of the accident are being continued.

The balloon is in no way seriously injured, according to the officers of the Signal Corps who have it in charge, and the accident, according to them, was a perfect test of the strength of the envelope or gas bag.

Friday and Saturday the Signal Corps officers were working on the dirigible, making some few repairs and changes in the structure of the frame. The bag was inflated and everything was being made ready for a series of flights before the setting in of cold weather. Everything was made tight Saturday afternoon when they left and a watchman was left in the tent.

No thought was given to the steady fall of wet and heavy snow, it being considered that the tent, which was strongly made, could easily support the weight. Early Sunday morning, however, there was a crash, and the full weight of tent and snow came down on the dirigible. The watchman sent in a hurried alarm to the post, and officers and men turned out to the rescue. It was thought wonderful that the bag did not burst under such pressure.

It was soon deflated, however, and was taken to the balloon house, where today it is being made ship-shape again.

RALSTON IN CHARGE OF LABOR INTEREST

Defends Federation in Absence of Judge Parker in Case of Contempt.

Although Judge Alton B. Parker could not come to Washington to defend the American Federation of Labor and its officers in the contempt case brought by the Buck Stove and Range Company, hearing began today before Justice Wright. Attorney Joseph J. Darlington, counsel for the Buck company, began a summary of the case which will probably extend the hearing throughout the week.

Violation of the injunction issued by Justice Gould last December is charged. Every prohibition of the complicated injunction is claimed by the Buck company to have been ignored.

Jackson H. Ralston, counsel for the American Federation of Labor, appeared for his clients and will take charge of the defense in the absence of Judge Parker who is kept in New York by other business.

CARMACK NEVER FIRED, SAYS YOUNG LAWYER

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 15.—That former Senator Edward B. Carmack never fired the pistol he carried on his death walk, and that young Robin Cooper, heretofore alleged to have been shot by Carmack, was in fact wounded by bullets from his father's revolver, intended for Carmack, is the startling statement made by Will A. Percy, a well-known young lawyer.

Mr. Percy says that the son was behind Carmack and the father in front, each so near their victim that the son was powder burned by the father's pistol. That two chambers of Carmack's pistol had been fired means nothing, says the lawyer, for the weapon was in the hands of his enemies two hours before it was turned over to the officers, and besides, Carmack's hand still held the cigar he was smoking as he bowed to Mrs. Eastman.

In a large number of towns and cities in Tennessee yesterday, services were held in honor of Carmack.

EWART APPOINTED TO RECOVER LANDS

Attorney Who Resigned
Upon Request, Sent on Special Mission.

Paul Ewart, who resigned from the office of Assistant United States District Attorney for Minnesota upon request of the President, during a heated primary campaign for Congress in the Second district, has been appointed by the President as special attorney to prosecute several thousand land fraud cases in Oklahoma.

Mr. Ewart, who hails from Pipestone, Minn., made the President in the Executive offices today, and he was informed of his appointment. When the President asked for Mr. Ewart's resignation, in the heat of the political fire that was sweeping the Second district, it was sent in promptly to the President himself. In the letter Mr. Ewart set forth some facts regarding the situation, which more than delighted the President, and it was with his record in the District Attorney's office brought him promotion.

Ewart starts for his new field of duties tonight. His mission is to recover many thousands of acres of Indian allotted lands to which the Government still claims title. A hard fight will be made between State and Federal authorities in Oklahoma. Under decisions of the Territory courts it was held that the Quapaw Indians were citizens and had a right to dispose of their allotments, but this is disputed by the Government.

Ewart received some special instructions from the President, who wants every effort made to recover the lands for the Indians and nothing left undone to prosecute every one who has attempted fraud on the Indians.

30-CENT JACK POT MAY CAUSE DEATH

CANONSBURG, Pa., Nov. 15.—With a 30-cent jack pot at stake in a poker game at South Canonsburg, George Long accused Theodore Brock of stealing cards from the deck. He became enraged, and exclaiming "You will steal cards, will you?" is alleged to have shot at Brock three times.

Rescued Brock's abdomen, and will probably cause death. Long fled, and officers have failed to locate him.

If Mr. Ward cannot be Secretary of the Treasury his inclination is for the Department of Commerce and Labor.

CANNON IS SAFE, DECLARES MADDEN

No United Opposition to Re-election of "Uncle Joe," Says Chicagoan.

With interest centering on the election of a Speaker for the next House of Representatives, and with many rumors about as to this mail, and that man who will attempt to usurp "Uncle Joe's" gavel, members of the House who are already arriving in the city are free in the expression of individual views regarding the probable fight, but it is becoming more apparent daily that the rank and file do not believe that the opposition to Uncle Joe will be serious.

Representative Martin E. Madden of Chicago is one of the later arrivals who is confident that Cannon will be re-elected.

"I do not believe there is much opposition to 'Uncle Joe,' nor do I know of any good reason why there should be," said Mr. Madden. "His long and wide experience makes his service almost invaluable, and he has worked in harmony with the House as has no other Speaker. He has been fair, clean, attentive to business, courteous to members, strong enough to prevent things from being done that ought not to be done, and courageous to have things done that should be done, regardless of who liked it. There is no real reason for dissatisfaction among members of the House."

Mr. Madden said that there was no particular fault to find with the rules, as they were made by the House, and that to present was given an opportunity, and that filibusters should not be encouraged.
